Minister of Culture to open library

Alberta's Minister of Culture, the Honorable Mary LeMessurier, will visit Elk Point this Saturday, October 5, to take part in the official opening ceremonies of the Elk Point Public Library.

M.L.A. John Drobot, Mayor Ed Buck and library representatives from various centres in northeastern Alberta will be in attendance at the opening, which is scheduled to commence at 2:00 p.m..

Finishing touches are now being added to the 3600 square foot library and its site, in preparation for the opening. Construction began in mid-January, with the total cost of the facility nearing the quarter million dollar mark, and was completed by the end of May.

The roomy building features large window areas plus exceptionally fine fluorescent lighting for a bright and cheery atmosphere, and ample space to store the library's ever growing collection of good reading material. A spacious lounge area where one can sit and read in comfort is included, as is a children's area with furniture scaled to the youngest readers.

One corner of the library has been designated for an Energy Information Centre, which will be sponsored by the Energy Resources Conservation Board, and staffed by an information officer.

Much of the library's furnishings has been purchased with funds generously donated by oil companies, service clubs and individuals in the Elk Point area during the period since construction started. A plaque bearing the donors' names will be displayed in the library as a token of thanks.

Everyone is welcome to join in Saturday's celebration, and to tour the new library. Coffee will be served.

FINISHING TOUCHES — Elk Point Public Library site receives a coating of loam, now covered with a lush, green "instant lawn", in preparation for Saturday's Grand Opening.

Murphy starts $33 million project

Last week's approval by the Energy Resources Conservation Board signalled an immediate start on Murphy Oil's $33 million oil treatment and extraction project located north east of Elk Point.

Located adjacent to the pilot project Murphy opened approximately a year ago, the new addition will consist of a huge oil treatment plant, a water treatment plant, and fifty-three additional wells. A new County road to the Murphy site supplies for the plant from the North Saskatchewan River. The contractor building the pipeline is already hard at work, with half of the right-of-way already cleared for action.

The pipeline will have a preliminary filtering system at its riverbank end, but water will require additional treatment when it reaches the Murphy site, before it is suitable for use in the steam generator. The water treatment plant will also clean the waste water from the oil treatment plant before it is pumped into deep disposal wells.

The oil treatment plant, which will remove sand and water from an estimated 400 cubic meters of heavy crude per day, will serve the 53 new wells, located in nine-well pads to the north of the pilot project's wells.

Drilling the first two new wells started last Friday, with another drilling rig expected to move to the site later this week. Drilling is expected to be complete in about three months.

Locating the wells in pads will speed up the drilling process, as the rig will not have to be lowered for the short

Elk Point 4-H Club will introduce new projects

An informational meeting to introduce Elk Point 4-H Club's new project areas is scheduled for tonight, October 2, at 7:30 p.m. at F.G. Miller High School.

A Light Horse project, along with Crafts, Photography and Wood-working, will be added to the roster for the first time this year, joining the usual Beef Steer and Beef Heifer projects.

A film presentation and displays, plus plenty of time to inquire about both new and old projects, is scheduled. Any boy or girl aged from ten to 21, is eligible to join 4-H. The addition of the new projects will allow those who live in town to join the farm youngsters in this great, worldwide organization.

Moms, Dads and kids are urged to attend tonight's informative gathering, and find out how 4-H can become a fun and educational part of your life.

WATER LINE UNDERWAY — Work on the new water line is now underway, with a three block portion of 51 St. stripped of pavement and awaiting the trenching machine's onslaught.

Break-in at local store

Elk Point Macleods store was the victim of a break and entry early Sunday morning, with a large quantity of merchandise stolen.

As a result of the investigation by Elk Point RCMP, the stolen property was recovered and two Elk Point men placed in custody.

Bridge construction finally finished

THE NEW BRIDGE AT ELK POINT — Across North Sask. River, on Highway 41, frames the old bridge. Scaffolding to add finishing touches have now been removed. I. Magnusson

By Irene Magnusson
Staff Writer

On that sunny Sunday in September (do you remember it?) I took my last batch of summer visitors down to see the new bridge-in-the-making over the North Saskatchewan River, south of Elk Point. This tour has been a standing attraction for our ex-Albertans, ex-Elk Pointites over the past year or so, and we proudly show it off whenever they come visiting.

Sunday has been a good day to go down, no one much working, and we could view the work from all angles. This time, after negotiating the detours and odd signs, we made it down to the campsite, parked and walked up the steep slope to the bridge. Suddenly I realized — my God, it's finished!

The wet pavement of the approaching highway was within a few feet of joining the concrete of the bridge on the north side, but alas, the south approach still had much to be done. The bridge itself is finished.

Following a long list of accidents and a few fatalities connected with the 'old' bridge (which in bridge years, is not very old at all) and a lot of criticisms and rows by the public, the building of the 'new' bridge got into gear in the fall of 1983. The abutments, designed to be constructed over a two-winter period, were finished the first winter.

Drawn up in the crest of our boom years, the budget for construction was set. A wind-up time, Manager of Bridge Construction, Al Rogers, in Edmonton, stated the cost of the project was well under the budget allowed.

No major problems or setbacks were encountered during the building period, although one death resulted when a workman fell to the ice during the winter of 1984.

The new bridge at Elk Point has set the people of Alberta back a total of $3,900,000, with $1,900,000 of that expended for materials alone. These materials included 4000 cubic yards of concrete. (A cubic yard might be what you could cram into the trunk of your car — not that you'd want to — 3'X3'X3'). Any way you look at it — a LOT of concrete!

The four massive piers are set on shale (solid rock), and are reinforced with 200 feet of heavy steel. The entire bridge is full of steel, with over 350 tons of it embedded in the covering concrete. So it is strong.

It also looks good. After all the weeks and months of work were done, all that concrete set and hard, crews rigged scaffolding and 'painted' the entire thing with a coating of "Class 5" cement — piers and top alike — until the finished product looks and feels as smooth as my plastered wall.

Those giant 'teeth', intermeshing at either end of the massive structure will allow for the inevitable contractions and expansions caused by heat and old Jack Frost, without the cracks and heaves resulting. And you likely won't even feel the joints when you drive over them.

The bridge length is 1200 feet — a trifle under a quarter of a mile. It's 38.6 feet wide, and stands 75 feet above the normal level of the N. Saskatchewan. Its life expectancy can be called an hundred years — or forever. It is expected to carry the load of anything that comes along.

No more will trucks and trailers hang into the steel girders overhead. No move will farmers knock bits and pieces off their combines and swathers if these must be transported across the river. No more green paint need be applied annually.

The long, gentle — and above all straight — highway approaches to the bridge should see no loads tipping and spilling as drivers fail to hang into the curves — the plague of the old bridge.

This broad new bridge has walls only a yard or so high, leaving all of Alberta's blue heavens open for the wide load, the high load, the passing loads. It also suspect it will be — as most bridge walls are — just the right height so we can't see the water as we drive by in a car. But then, who said we can have everything?

And what of the old bridge? Where will it go? This is not known yet, but it will be dismantled and removed for use elsewhere. Constructed in five sections, each of which may be used separately, or in conjunction with any other span — or spans — no doubt it will find a resting place — or places — across some stream — or streams — on less well-travelled roads, perhaps in rural Alberta.

I — along with others — love our gracefully arched 'old'

Murphy Oil spokesman, Tony Guffin, said that a large number of workers will be employed during the construction phase, with approximately 80 employees at the peak of the 5 to 6 month period.

Thirty additional employees will be required to operate the finished plant, Guffin added.

Lifespan of the project is expected to be at least twenty years for this phase, Guffin commented "And when these wells run dry, we'll drill some more."

bridge, and will regret its passing; however, it — like ourselves when we have served our turn, must pass into history.

Opened for use in the summer of 1950, our old bridge has carried its share of traffic. There was much rejoicing over that event, too, since only a ferry in summer and Nature's own bridge in winter served the travelers who wished to pass that way before our half-century mark.

Thirty-five years is not long in bridge life, but times change rapidly. Who would have dreamed — in 1950 — that such giant truckloads of oil and chemicals would be thundering down old Number 41 by the early '80s?

Surely no one will be unhappy to see the narrow — (albeit well-paved) stretch of highway through Elk Point give way to the new broad expanse, now edging up to only a short half-mile south of town.

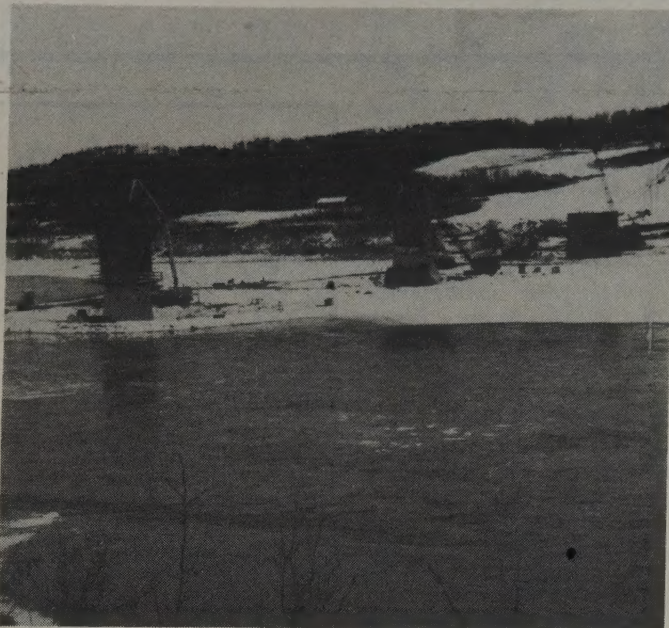

I contacted District Transportation Engineer John Schroeder in regards to when we can expect the approaches to the bridge to be finished. The rotten weather which has been turning the farmers grey has affected the schedule of the road builders, too, causing some delays he said. The nearest finish date he could give me was "this fall." You all know what fall weather in this country can be, so it well may be we will be observing the opening ceremonies for our new bridge off in 1986 somewhere.

Better late than never, so they say. And there seems to be definite time for the widening and finishing of the road south of Elk Point, to where it will join the so-called approach. That will be another contract, another job to plan.

However, now we know what a good wide road looks like, we can anticipate the future outcome of that job. The new approach road is 11.8 m. (about 38') wide, room to pass without suffering claustrophobia. The 7 km (about 4 1/3 miles) of new road cost a total of $2.4 million, and of course the bill is covered by the Alberta Government.

So all of us, who have watched the growth of this project, and endured some inconveniences because of it, will be rewarded, and should enjoy the use of this new and ambitious addition to our Alberta trails.

Adventure for boys in Scouts

By John Watson
Boy Scouts of Canada

Young boys often complain of being bored. Adventure is something that happens on the T.V. screen. Boy Scouts of Canada has something to offer them: Beavers. A program of fun and friendship for boys from five to seven years old. Beaver activities focus on sharing and cooperation.

Leaders organize the colony's activities to include crafts, songs and stories. The Beavers learn through fun: trying and experiencing are more important than winning and achieving.

The Beaver uniform is a vest and hat. They are blue to symbolize the sky and water. Brown to symbolize the earth and the beaver's coat. After learning the Beaver law (A Beaver has fun, works hard, and helps his family and friends) and the Beaver promise (I promise to love God and help take care of the World) the 'kit' becomes invested and receives a blue neckerchief to complete his uniform. He is now an Eager Beaver.

Twice a year, in spring and fall, the colony has the tail celebration in recognition of the boys maturing. The celebration involves changing the color coded tail on the back of the Beavers' hats. The youngest Beavers have yellow tails and the color changes every six months until the Beaver reaches the final stage: a white tail with a lightning bolt. These Beavers can then go through the swimming-up ceremony in which they move on to the Cub program. The new Cubs wear a link badge recognizing their participation in the Beaver program.

Golf Club 1984-85 executive back by acclamation

Elk Point Golf and Country Club's 1984-85 executive was returned by acclamation at last week's Annual Meeting, with President Ed Soldan; Vice President Bill Bepalko; Secretary Pearl Bepalko; and Treasurer Evelyn Babcock agreeing to retain their positions for the coming 1985-86 season.

A committee was formed to plan development of the golf course portion of the recreation land, and to plan for construction of a clubhouse on the site. Ed Soldan, Pat Vincent, Marshall Kachmar, Roger Mc Laughlin, and Clem Johnson make up the new committee.

The Golf Club membership gave a hearty vote of thanks to a large group of donors who helped to make such a success of the past year: Pratch Construction, Elk Point Oilfield Service, D & D Trucking, Cordean Consulting Service, Porta Construction, Empress Restaurant, Double K Corral, Elk Point Burger Bar, and the many others who contributed their time and money. A special thanks went to Roger Mc Laughlin and the Coop Staff for their willing assistance in delivering items for the suppers exactly when needed, a very large help to all concerned.

From humble beginnings to modern showplace

Congratulations to the Elk Point Library Board and the Town of Elk Point on the official opening of their beautiful new facility this coming weekend.

The new library is indeed a dream come true for the members of the Library Board, those dedicated volunteers who have seen the library grow from a minute collection of donated volumes housed in a former granary, to the wide variety of literature lining the bright colored shelves of the new, 3600 square foot building.

The library began in the fall of 1947, as a project by a high school social studies class, following a class study of community needs. At the same time, the Elk Point Chamber of Commerce was looking into the possibility of founding a library for the town's people. The Public Library opened that fall with about three hundred books, fifty members, and Mrs. Sarah Vaughn as librarian.

1966, when it moved eastward to share the newly built Centennial Building with the Town Office. At that time, the library boasted a collection of 5000 volumes, and about 250 members. It was officially opened on October 14, 1967, with Dr. Anne Weigerinck, Library Board President, cutting the ribbon.

And now, nine days short of eighteen years later, the Library Board will again gather to celebrate the grand opening of another new Library, to serve the ever-increasing needs of a fast growing community, under the direction of Librarian Doreen Mayner.

Thirty eight years of library service in Elk Point have seen many changes, but one thing remains the same. The strength of today's library is, as it has been for almost four decades, in the volunteers who have made it such a great success during all that time.

With the collection grown to 2000 volumes in only three years, the library moved to a Main Street location, where it remained until Thanks from the entire community, to all those dedicated workers who have made this dream a reality.

"See dear. Now isn't this better than giving a reducing salon all that money?"

Elk Point Hospital auxiliary goes on a tear

By Irene Magnusson
Staff Writer

The evening of Monday, September 23rd, saw the Elk Point Hospital Auxiliary members industriously 'cutting up' as over a dozen ladies reduced boxes and boxes of discarded hospital linens into handy wipe rags, folded and bagged, ready for sale to the Canadian Salt Plant. These are donated by the hospital, the Auxiliary prepares them, then proceeds are used for comfort and treatment articles used by patients.

After a 'ripping' two hours, the group weighed in the eight large black plastic bags, for a total of 244 lbs. Later these were lugged out to the vehicle of President Wasy Elaschuk, who volunteered to deliver them.

When order had been restored to the meeting room, floor vacuumed and the sneezing dying down, the meeting opened at 9:15 p.m., with twelve members present, one new member signing in, and one visitor. Minutes of the August 26th meeting were dealt with, read by secretary Agnes Morosiuk, treasurer Violet McFadyen then read the financial report, and noted that another large donation has been received from the Canadian Salt Co. toward the proposed purchase of an electric wheelchair for the hospital. Total donations are now $2480, approximately half-way to the goal set. Further donations will be gratefully received, and will bring the culmination of this project closer.

Canteen workers reported good sales, and a run on slippers leaving very few on hand. Member Audrey Lorensen handed in two pairs of very attractive slippers she had made, toward replenishing the stock. It was agreed the group would try sales of Baby Birth announcement cards, as another fund-raising project. These will be ordered soon.

A proposed "Teleconference" will be held in the Elk Point Hospital meeting room, October 30th, between 2:30 and 3:30 p.m.. Any member (or non-member) interested may attend this information session, with an opportunity to ask questions on Auxiliaries, and their problems. McFadyen has agreed to go for the group, with hopes some other members will also attend.

An application for the fall raffle will be sent in soon, Elaschuk attending to this. The receipt number for Income Tax purposes, has not yet been received, due to some mix-up, but Elaschuk hoped it would arrive soon.

Elaschuk reported she and McFadyen had attended the Information Meeting in Elk Point, Sept. 18th, and had represented the Auxiliary there. Interest has been shown in the group's activities.

The hospital staff has extended thanks for the rocking chair received. They would like a padded cover for it. This will be ordered by the Auxiliary.

The rocking chair referred to has been given a coat of Varathane by Calvin Laughlin, and thanks are extended to him from the Auxiliary.

McFadyen gave a detailed report of the Regional Auxiliary Conference attended by herself and Wasy Elaschuk in Smoky Lake last Sept. 12th, and the following tour of the new hospital there. She mentioned the quilts received by the Regional offices, which are to be raffled for funds for the McDonald Houses, in Edmonton and Calgary. The Elk Point group may expect to receive a number of tickets for sale soon. These are fancy hand-made quilts, and tickets will sell for $5 each.

Delegates were called for to go to the Annual Auxiliary Convention in Edmonton on November 26 to 29th. There were no volunteers forthcoming at this meeting. Elaschuk will contact all absent members, also. It was felt the group should be represented. Any volunteers may phone Wasy Elaschuk.

Tray favors for the Thanksgiving observation were discussed, with tentative agreement reached.

The next Regional Conference will be in Myrnam, Nov. 18th. It is hoped some members will attend. Regular meeting in Elk Point is at 8:00 p.m., same place, October 28th, 1985.

The meeting was adjourned by the chair, at 10:15 p.m.. The new member welcomed is Margret Paynter.

Agriculture nose-count

By Don Mazankowski
Member of Parliament

The Minister of Agriculture, the Honourable John Wise, has announced that the questionnaire for the 1986 Census of Agriculture will reflect technological advances in Canadian agriculture.

On Census Day, Canadian farm operators will be asked for the first time about the use of such developments as office computers and subsurface (tile) drainage systems.

The Census of Agriculture, which will be conducted on June 3, 1986, is basically a comprehensive snapshot of the major characteristics of Canadian farming. It will also ask farmers for information on crops, livestock and farm machinery and will address farm business practices such as fertilizer and pesticide use.

The Census of Agriculture monitors the changing structure of the agriculture industry. Data obtained from the Census are used by various levels of government to develop and monitor agricultural policies and programs, as well as by farmers and others to make production, marketing and investment decisions.

Questions in the 1986 Census have been designed to make the information more useful and responsive to evolving issues in agriculture and to regional concerns. For the first time, each farm operator will receive, along with the questionnaire, an explanation of why the various questions are being asked.

As in the past, for cost efficiency, the Census of Agriculture will be carried out in conjunction with the Census of Population.

Assurance has been given that farmers responding to the 1986 Census of Agriculture that any information supplied to enumerators is strictly confidential. All employees of the Census are required to take an oath of secrecy and are liable to fines or imprisonment, or both, should they violate this oath.

The information provided by the 1986 Census of Agriculture will help our government maintain our standing in the international market, and ensure that continued development of national agricultural programs and policies.

Club activities are on hold until the harvesting is done, but the Fish and Game called their first meeting in a hurry when the weather was bad last week. The time for regular Fish and Game meetings is the third Thursday of each month.

Rebecca Ashley Braithwaite was born on September 10, to Karen and Gordon Braithwaite. Her proud grandparents are Annie and George Brodwin of Landonville, and Joyce and Don Braithwaite of Dewberry.

On Thursday, September 19, the school children were taken to Highway 45 to watch Steele's Scouts, in buckskin uniforms, and members of the Carabiniers de Mont Royal in 1885 uniform, ride by. This group was on horseback, commemorating the North-west Rebellion. They were travelling from Fort Saskatchewan to Frenchman's Butte and Loon Lake to re-enact the pursuit of Big Bear after the Frog Lake Massacre. These "Riders of Alberta's Proud Past" had traded their covered wagons for more comfortable campers and motorhomes.

Last evening, I returned to my home after work to be advised by a member of my family that a man had been around asking questions about my house and my family's activities. The one question that particularly bothers me was, "are there any adults at home between 8:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m.?"

The member of my family had the presence of mind to call my wife and advise her that there was a man measuring the outside of our house and that he had asked several questions about the construction of the home. It was, of course, the municipal tax assessment people, and they were simply evaluating the property. At least that was the assumption I made until I could check it out.

Let's consider what information could be supplied by answering the question "are there any adults at home between 8:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m.?" If that person had been an impostor, he would know the family's routine and could plan any criminal activity of his choosing.

Do NOT volunteer information to anyone unless they have proper identification. Each of these people have an I.D. card with them. If they don't show it to you, Kurash; Grade 7 Representative - Trevor Golden; Grade 8 Rep. - Lisa Moosomin; grade 9 Rep. - Cheryl Nowosad.

The Pursuit Program is beginning in Clandonald School with three students from grades 4 to 6. The teacher, Bev Convey, comes to the school for one half day each week.

The furnace for the elementary wing of the school is operating now, but there is another to be installed for the other part of the school.

Awards Night is being planned for the end of October.

ask them for it. If you are suspicious, call the police and we will check them out. Do not assume they are legitimate.

I have spoken to the Municipal Tax Assessment people and have made the following suggestions: that they advise the local police that they are in the area and for how long. That they show their I.D., as a matter of course. That they leave a business card at a residence when they do not find the property owner at home.

I have been promised compliance and have been advised that the tax assessment will take approximately two weeks, but again, if you are suspicious, call us.

Vocational training gets $75 million boost

Edmonton — The Minister of Manpower, Ernie Isley, recently announced plans for an extensive $7.5 million enhancement to the existing Alberta Vocational Training Program for the 1985/86 fiscal year. The enhanced program will provide additional training or re-training to unemployed Albertans who may already possess skills but may need updating and/or additional training to obtain employment.

"Our present Alberta Vocational Training Program gave financial support to about 15,000 people during 1984-85. With this enhancement of the basic AVT program we will be able to give an additional 1,000 people the opportunity to take academic upgrading and/or vocationally oriented training, in the expectation that this will increase their chances of obtaining and retaining employment," Mr. Isley said. He added that the Enhanced AVT Program will be of particular benefit to unemployed tradesmen, apprentices and other skilled and experienced but unemployed workers who at present do not qualify for support under the Alberta Vocational Training Program. Under the enhanced program, students will be eligible for funding for training at a variety of institutions including post-secondary colleges, technical institutes, Alberta Vocational Centres, private vocational schools and other approved training institutes.

Mr. Isley also announced that the AVT allowance rates to full-time students (attending classes at least 25 hours per week) will be increased over the training allowances paid out under the basic AVT program already in place.

This will be effective October 15, 1985. The allowance rates will undergo annual review by a committee of representatives from the department of Manpower, as well as from Advanced Education's Students' Finance Board.

As well as providing training assistance for unemployed Albertans and funding for additional institutional programs, the Enhanced AVT Program will also feature a career counselling component. "This means that in addition to the 1,000 Albertans who may be eligible to receive training allowances during one year of operation of the program, approximately 2,000 more will benefit from counselling through Alberta Career Centres," said Isley.

Information about the Enhanced Alberta Vocational Training (AVT) Program, can be obtained by contacting the nearest Alberta Manpower Career Centre or Alberta Vocational Centres.

Marketing, Employment Program announced

Edmonton — Minister of Manpower, Ernie Isley, and Minister of International Trade, Horst Schmid, recently announced the Alberta International Marketing and Employment Program.

Designed to promote the development of export market operations in Alberta, the program will provide businesses and companies across the province with an opportunity to hire post-secondary graduates who will work with specific marketing plans to sell goods and services abroad. In this way, the new program will give Alberta post-secondary marketing graduates the opportunity to gain work experience and training in the areas of international marketing, finance and management, and in some cases, science and technology.

Under the Alberta International Marketing Employment Program, the Alberta Government will reimburse approved companies and businesses at a rate of 50 per cent of an employee's wages, up to a maximum of $30,000 over a two-year period. In addition, employers may receive a $3,000 grant to cover costs of the employee's travel for the development of foreign markets.

"We estimate that over a 12-month period 55 young enterprising Albertans will benefit from this opportunity," said Ernie Isley. He added that the department will be ready to accept applications by October 1, 1985.

International Trade Minister, Horst Schmid, said that over 620 Alberta companies are presently involved in selling products outside Canada. "The Alberta International Marketing Employment Program will assist those companies who are already committed to international marketing. We also hope that it will enable those others who to this point have lacked the resources to become involved in marketing beyond our national borders, to embark in this exciting venture."

Companies/businesses who wish to participate will submit to Alberta Manpower a marketing plan with a description of the proposed development or expansion of export activity; the proposed training program; the work experience in international marketing which the graduate will receive; the academic and experience requirements of the graduate; and possibilities for ongoing employment.

Guidelines for the Alberta International Marketing Employment Program will be mailed to companies and businesses throughout Alberta in the next few weeks. Meanwhile, further information about program guidelines and applications can be obtained by calling the Department of Manpower at 427-4740.

Senior's Games

Grande Prairie — The 1986 Alberta Seniors Games will be hosted by Grande Prairie. The announcement was made recently by Grande Prairie M.L.A. Dr. Bob Elliott at a luncheon with representatives from the City of Grande Prairie Seniors Association and the Alberta Sport Council.

Grande Prairie, who hosted the 1980 Alberta Winter Games, will take on the challenge of the Alberta Seniors Games. Camrose hosted the first-ever Alberta Seniors Games in 1980 and the subsequent Games in 1982 and 1984.

Over 800 Seniors, over the age of 55 years, will participate in Grande Prairie. There will be about 20 sports and cultural events, like slowpitch, swimming and performing arts.

The next Alberta Winter Games will be held in Edson February 26th - March 2nd, 1986.

Bored of Education

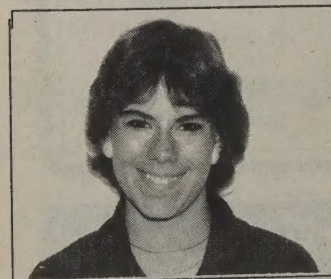

New faces

Welcome back to school, F.G. Miller students! A special welcome for our 14 new students and our three new teachers. I hope you've all had a great summer. The school year is already in full swing with several new activities already in operation. Enjoy your year!

MR. NEUMEIER

We would like to welcome Mr. Wesley Neumeier to F.G. Miller Jr/Sr High School. He attended 2½ years of schooling at Edmonton and 2 years at Lethbridge. Mr. Neumeier is now living in Vermilion and is teaching here at F.G. Miller. Although he's new to our school he isn't unfamiliar with the county of St. Paul. He taught in Heinsburg for 2 years, in Mallaig for 1 year and in Fishing Lake for a year. Mr. Neumeier's major in school is English, and his multidisciplinary is liberal Education. He is currently teaching Language Arts 7, 8 and 9 and Drama 7 and 8. He enjoys coaching some sports and is planning on coaching Jr. High boys softball. We would like to welcome Mr. Neumeier to our great school and hope he enjoys it here as much as we do!

MISS ANGIE MILLER

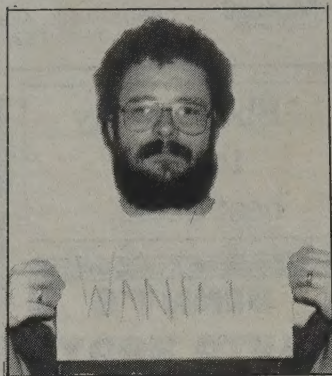

Miss Angie Miller was born in Fort St. John, B.C. on July 30, 1971. She moved from Spruce Grove, Alberta over the summer holidays because her dad was transferred here.

Angie is now attending F.G. Miller High School in grade nine.

Angie has one 17 year old brother, Brad, who is also attending F.G. Miller High School. She has one younger sister, Kim, who is 9 and attends Elk Point Elementary School.

She also has four years of jazz and tap dancing behind her, which she plans to continue and become a professional dancer some day.

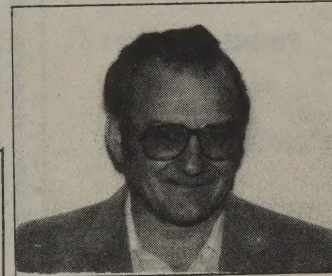

Good luck in the future and may all your dreams come true!!!

MR. MARTIN

Calgarian, Mr. Timothy Martin came to Elk Point for his first full time job. Mr. Martin is the junior high phys. ed teacher, who replaced Mr. Paul Ivison, who regrettably had to leave us. At age twenty-six Mr. Martin has a wife, Sheila, and a daughter, Cayla. He has completed six years of schooling, five years at the University of Calgary, and one year at the College of Red Deer. As well, he has three years of substitute teaching behind him!

Naturally, Mr. Martin enjoys sports, as well he lives on coffee and thrives on yelling at students! There are probably more secrets that he has but he didn't want us to know! However we, the students at F.G. Miller, would like to welcome Mr. Martin to our school. We hope you enjoy teaching here and have a good year!

MR. KRANKOWSKY

Mr. Steve Krankowsky, resident of St. Paul, is one of the three new teachers who came to our school this year. He teaches junior high social studies, which is his major and math which is his minor.

Mr. Krankowsky has quite a history of teaching behind him. His first year of teaching was in Myrnam, his second year in Wilngdon. For the next 5 years he taught in Derwent. After that he taught 20 years in Ashmont. Now he is teaching his 29th year in the F.G. Miller Jr/Sr High School.

He enjoys fishing, hunting and traveling. He has traveled with Gr. 11-12 class to England, France, and Belgium and said it was one of the best trips he has ever taken.

He has two children who are attending school in St. Paul. They are in Gr. 7 and 10.

On behalf of the Elk Point F.G. Miller Jr/Sr High School students we would like to welcome him to our school.

"Bored of Education" is written and organized by the Grade 9 Language Arts Option Class with contributions from around the school. It is sponsored by several businesses in and around Elk Point.

This month, we were lucky enough to be sponsored by the Canadian Salt Co.

Bulletin board

The Junior-High Volleyball Teams are getting into full swing on Thursday, October 3rd. Currently the two teams are alternating practises Monday through Thursday between 3:30 and 5:00. The coaches this year are presently Mr. Boyd (Jr.-High Girls) and Mr. Bilak (Jr.-High Boys). The teams definitely look like potential county cup champions.

BOTTLE DRIVE

On Sept. 14, 1985 the Jr/Sr Volleyball players held a bottle drive. Twenty enthusiastic students plus F.G. Miller's very own six chauffeurs went out to gather bottles. The community was very generous in their donations to our cause. We, the volleyball teams, would like to thank the community for their support. We raised approximately $500.00 because of your kindness. A big thank-you to the community and to our own students and teachers that helped out!

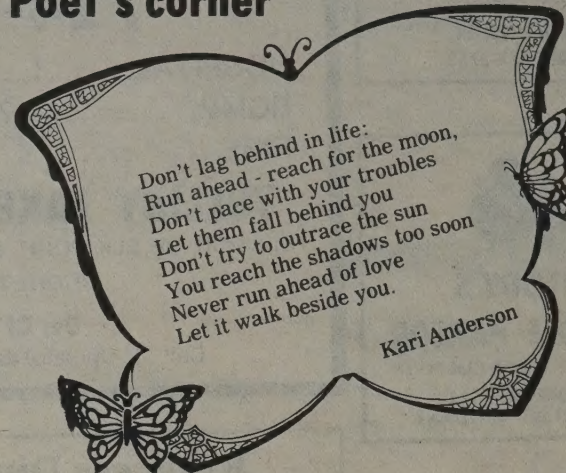

CHICKEN SUPPER

On Wednesday Oct. 12, 1985 the F.G. Miller School is having their second annual chicken supper. Starting at 5:30 p.m. and ending at 8:00 p.m.. It will be held in the Elk's Hall.

Admission: Adults - $5.00; Students - $4.00; advance tickets - $4.00 (Available at the High School).

Help support the students in the international year of the youth!

Poet's corner

Don't lag behind in life:
Run ahead - reach for the moon,
Don't pace with your troubles
Let them fall behind you
Don't try to outrace the sun
You reach the shadows too soon
Never run ahead of love
Let it walk beside you.

Kari Anderson

Out of this world

Mrs. Pentek, this is the reason I didn't write you a journal...

I was sitting in my room trying to think up something to write in my journal because I know how you feel about us not writing journals. Anyways, suddenly I was attacked by aliens. They held me at gun point and stole all my paper.

Naturally I went after them, I didn't want to be caught without a journal to hand in on Wednesday. I followed them to a huge spaceship where they were loading my paper. I ran, screaming at them to give it back, but they got scared and ran onto the ship. I slipped in just as they closed the door. I fought good and hard for my paper, Mrs. Pentek, don't think I didn't. They soon over powered me and I was taken to a small room where I was chained to the wall. I was to be killed slowly by the pain of hearing opera music. I can't stand the stuff.

I broke from my chains and ran from the room, down the hall to where they were holding the stolen goods. I fought off the guards and got back this one piece of paper. I was satisfied and jumped off the ship.

I didn't notice they had already lifted off from earth so I fell through the earth's atmosphere which caught my paper on fire. When I hit the ground I quickly put it out.

That's why I didn't write a journal, Mrs. Pentek!!!
